Bethel P. O. appears bound for other side of the tracks

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The final decision is yet to be made (it could come this week), but it appears the Bethel Post Office will be moving to Bethel Station.

Following the announcement by the United States Postal Service that it would replace its cramped quarters on Main Street, four proposals were submitted for new sites.

But three of those sites are not acceptable, for a variety of reasons. USPS real estate specialist Tom Brooks told the Bethel Board of Selectmen Monday.

The fourth site, and the proposal the USPS found most acceptable, was from developer Hiram Merrill, who proposed building a new post office across the railroad tracks at the foot of the present Main Street.

'We want to be where the action is.'

TERRY BROOKS
USPS real estate specialist

Michael Merrill is thrilled to be expanded into the Bethel Station project, and the new post office would have frontage along the new railroad tracks, a street-level page 4.

Where will the village grow and site proposal by Merrill is just beyond the "traditional village of Bethel" as it was delineated in a petition calling for the post office to remain in the village.

That petition was signed by more than 600 people.

Brooks, Merrill, and other opponents of the relocation, and one supporter, the town's temporary board about moving the post office were that it would be too far for residents of elderly housing to walk to, and that such a move would change the social fabric of the village.

There seemed to be good signs on Monday that the best site for the post office is in the village, it is now, but no proposal was submitted for that site.

Brown faces new charge

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Merton Brown, who was fired from his position as Bethel town clerk following a conviction for shoplifting a $2.49 battery, now faces charges that he embezzled $10,906 from the Maine Town and City Clerks Association.

Brown was charged last week by the Oxford County grand jury in South Paris.

He is scheduled to be arraigned June 14 in Oxford County Superior Court.

It is noted, Brown could face up to 10 years in prison, but the maximum term is unlikely, said Assistant District Attorney Joseph O'Connor, since Brown has already paid back the money. "And that's a significant factor in the prosecution of the case."

The maximum prison term, O'Connor said, is reserved for criminals with bad records who are charged with more serious crimes within a certain category.

Brown closely took the money from the clerks' association between 1992 and 1995, while he was treasurer. O'Connor said the money was taken over a period of time rather than in a single payment.

Brown had to be charged after the audit.

The clerk association was started in 1988, and has about 100 members.

RESPONSE TO THE BETHELS

To the Editor:

I would appreciate it if you would print the following response to the letter to the editor from Bill and Sheila Bethel printed in the May 15, 1996 issue.

To Bill and Sheila: Thank You.

Bob Chadbourne
Chairman, Bethel Board of Selectmen

THEY WERE RIGHT

To the Editor:

Town officials were correct in their actions against our former town clerk, Madeleine and the selectmen have been very quiet about this whole saga, knowing that eventually more was coming. I think our town officials deserve all the respect and support we can give them, because their actions were right. They conducted themselves in the professional manner that we would expect them to conduct themselves in. It had to be hard for them to know that an investigation was ongoing, and were right in what they were doing, yet they could not tell people anything about it.

NOT EVERYONE'S VINDICTIVE

To the Editor:

I sure hope Bill and Sheila Bethel see this letter. Unfortunately, I do live in this town with Madeleine Henley and with all of the Board of Selectmen. I think it is very unfair in what they did to Mr. Brown, but I want you to keep something in mind. Mrs. Henley only has a little more than a year left. Then her term is up.

I sure hope you will think twice before you make up your mind for good. We need people like you to help us get rid of these vindictive people. Please don't let a handful of people in this town make up your minds. We are not all like Madeleine Henley and the Board of Selectmen.

As you know, Mr. and Mrs. Bethel, from visiting the state of Maine, it is a beautiful place to live. I have lived here all of my life. You can still go to your neighbors and ask for a cup of sugar if you should happen to run out.

In closing, I would just like to say again, Ms. Henley has about a year left. Then she will be voted out.

Dawn Gross
Bethel

Note: The town manager's contract is negotiated and approved by the Board of Selectmen, not by voters.

MAY FAIR THANKS

To the Editor:

The CPS May Fair committee would like to thank the Bethel community for all its support for our 4th annual May Fair. It was a huge success. This annual event benefits all the students at CPS, providing funding for them.

We feel so thankful for the many donations that we received from our community, local businesses, individuals, businesses from afar and parents at CPS. We have always been so pleased with the support that we have received each year for our May Fair.

The many events that we have each year require a lot of volunteers to run and organize them, so we would like to thank some of those people: Becky Bean and Dave Murphy, auctions; Marjorie Osgood, food; Ellen Greene and Marjorie Osgood, finances; Brenda Wight, games; Linda Howe and Levi Brown, pie-eating competitions; Mahoosuc Music Makers; Julie Daye, for Mickey and Minnie; Deb Gilbert, sand art and moonwalk; Barbara Brooks, white elephant sale; Betsy Raymond and Nancy Hansen, used book sale; Kate Slattery, petting zoo and pony rides; Tracy Mason, student council/PTA table; Merton and Martha Brown, auction and the Bethel Lions Club, popcorn.

We are so fortunate to have such talented people who are dedicated each year to help with our May Fair event. The monies raised from this year's May Fair will once again be put toward transportation costs for field trips, sports equipment and playground equipment. The May Fair was a success due to a lot of generosity. We look forward to seeing you at next year's May Fair.

BICENTENNIAL PARADE UPDATE

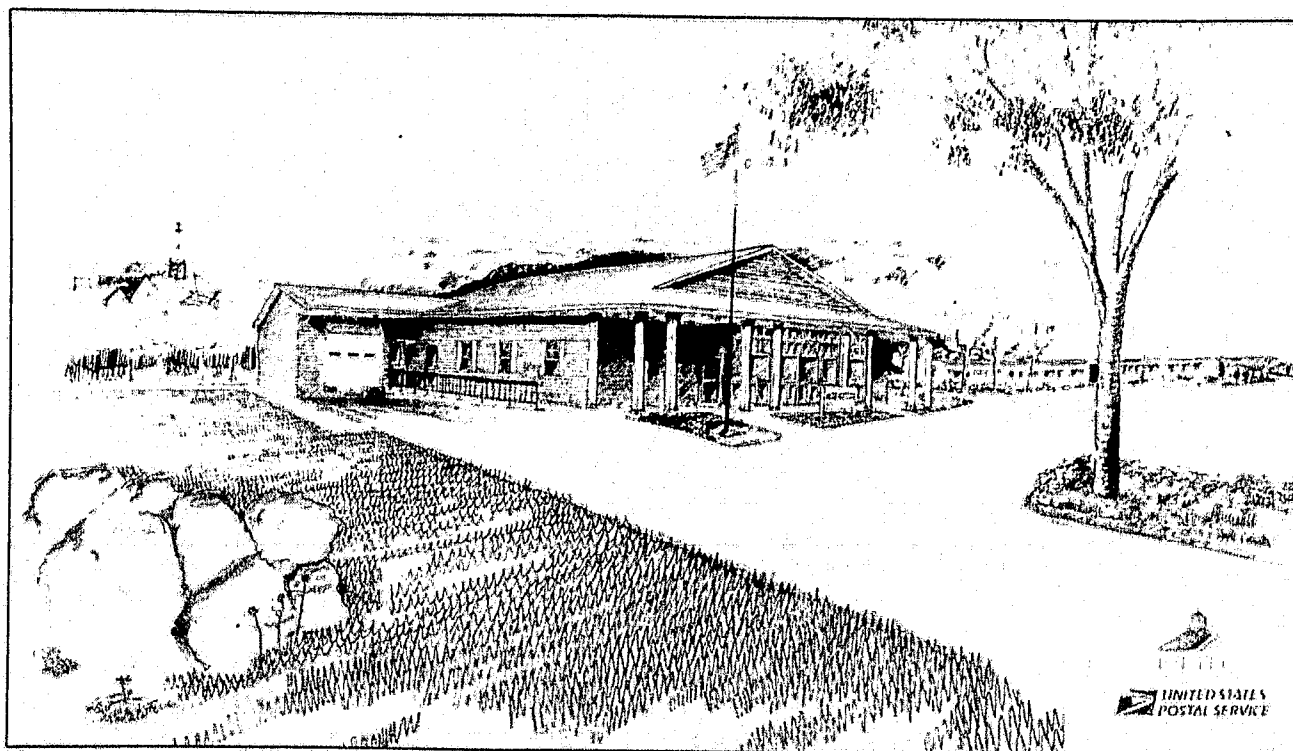

To the Editor:

Plans for the Bicentennial Parade on August 10 are coming along. We have received commitment from three bands and a fife and drum corp. Also, we have commitment from nine organizations and businesses for floats. This is great! However, to make this Bethel's largest parade ever, we need lots more! We'd like to challenge the businesses and individuals to help us reach our goal -- 30 floats, the most any parade in Bethel has ever had. We still need to hear from some families and individuals for entries. Please give us a call.

We still need volunteers to help with our committee. This will only involve the next three months and duties will be anything from making phone calls to helping with parade line up, etc. We will also be looking for several people to help with the Shoestring Theater Puppets in the parade. Get into the spirit and join us! Our next committee meeting is May 29 at 7 p.m. at Maine Line Products on Main Street in Bethel.

To enter the parade or join the committee, just call Ellen Whitney at 824-2522 days and 824-0299 evenings, or Rhonda Buker at 824-2178 days or 824-3076 evenings. You can also stop by Maine Line Products or Kendall Insurance to pick up an entry form.

PROPOSED POST OFFICE in Bethel Station (artist rendering).

OUR POST OFFICE MEETS EVERYONE'S NEEDS

To the Editor:

This letter is intended for the public in response to the orchestrated block by the selectmen Monday evening, Terry Brooks, U.S. Postal Service, State of Maine Real Estate announced to the selectmen that he and his people had reviewed the proposals submitted by four developers. (1) Frank Whittier -- Main Street next to the Ambulance Garage; (2) Kennett Real Estate -- a lot on the corner of Spring and Main streets; (3) Bob Laux -- for a parcel on Mason Street, and (4) Bethel Station Limited Partnership -- for a lot on Railroad, Mechanic Street Extension and Cross Street.

Mr. Brooks announced that he had eliminated the first two because of size. (The lot requirement in the RFP was for 71,000 square feet.)

He went on to demonstrate that the Mason Street site was questionable due to the narrow, residential street, and that the criteria in the request for proposal had not been met. There was no plan presented that responded to the requirements regarding form or function. In addition, their inability to justify the astronomical difference in cost. The ability to service the building with a 50-foot tractor trailer, and to service customers, particularly to vehicular access which constitutes 95 percent of the business.

Our proposal is the Bethel Station Limited Partners' solution to the U.S. Postal Services' need to improve their facility in Bethel.

This program offers the construction of a facility identified in U.S. Postal Service Plans No. 40A dated 2/10/95. It will provide 4,000 net square feet of interior space complete with a 612-square-foot loading platform with a 50-lineal-foot access. It offers 45 spaces for parking on a site that totals 74,592 square feet. It also provides unlimited expansion opportunity.

Bethel Station Limited Partnership proposes a base agreement for the Postal Service for a term of 20 years beginning in October of 1996. It will also offer three five-year options for renewal.

This site is in response to the U.S. Postal Services' requirements and is sensitive to the Bethel Area and the community needs. The location is 1,250 lineal feet from the existing location and has frontage on Railroad Street, which has been identified as part of the "preferred area." It is on the corner of Railroad and the proposed new Mechanic Street Extension which is the intricate connection linking the Bethel Station Project to the existing downtown. This has been the consistent intent of the Bethel Station Program and will stimulate additional building development and provide jobs and taxable income to the town of Bethel. It will enhance our ability to entice other businesses that have been requested by the community such as a grocery and a drug store.

This post office offers yet another key result in Bethel Station Limited Partnership's program. It enables Bethel to satisfy its desire to maintain the kind of pedestrian-friendly and socially cohesive downtown.

The building design is in keeping with the architectural integrity of the town and offers an improved U.S. Postal facility that will be a tremendous benefit to the entire Bethel Area.

Bethel is on the move and it will be a pleasure to have a new Bethel Postal Service play a part in this community improvement program.

RECYCLE THAT GARDEN PLASTIC

To the Editor:

All gardeners face the same question every spring. What to do with all those plastic pots and flats that vegetables, flowers, shrubs and other plants come in. Now there's an answer for gardeners in the Bethel area.

Mountain Greenery is participating in a statewide effort called the Maine Green Industry Plastic Recycling Project. Customers can bring their plastic pots back to Mountain Greenery, located on Route 2 in West Bethel. At the end of the season, businesses from the entire state will put all the plastic together, to be sent to a recycling center for remanufacturing.

This is an exciting project for us. We're just as concerned as our gardening customers about the environment. This project helps all of us. We can get one or more use out of good pots that are returned. And we can work with other businesses from all over Maine to collect broken and cracked pots and recycle them into new products.

The recycling project is sponsored by the Horticulture Industry Planning Committee. The committee is composed of industry members who work to resolve issues that are important to nurseries, landscapers, garden center owners, greenhouse growers and florists. Lois Berg Stack, University of Maine Cooperative Extension specialist in ornamental horticulture, is coordinating the project. "I work with members of the horticulture industry, and also with home gardeners," says Stack. "All of them are concerned about plastic. If we can get one more use from plastic containers that are in good condition, and collect the broken containers to be melted and manufactured into something useful, that's good for everyone. The industry is doing a great service to their customers and to the environment by taking part in this project. We are fortunate to have funding from an industry trade show and educational program, called New England Grows, to support this project."

Sen. None-of-the-Above

By MIKE BROWN

There seems to be increasing Maine public opinion in the senate race for the seat of Bill Cohen -- none of the above.

Political races are getting sappier and sappier. Senatorial candidates are all trying to convince we, the people, that they will "make a difference" and "take on Washington" when any Maine voter knows this is just political shake and jive.

On the Democratic side, Joe Brennan wants to come out of paranoid self exile and vindicate his losing image. Sean Faircloth, whom everybody west of the Penobscot River thinks is an Irish national here on a green card, never saw a tax or welfare increase bill he didn't like. And Jean Hay. What's her problem anyway? She runs and runs and sells the family farm to pay her political ego debts and can't even carry the Kenduskeag Stream that meanders through River City Bangor.

Dick Spencer has an interesting campaign. His frequent television hoopla pleads for the common Maine man and promises to raise the standards of the good Maine life, if only voters will send him to Domesday Beltway. Spencer is a former state legislator who couldn't get re-elected twice. So, he became an associate lobbyist for the Portland law firm of Drummond, Woodsum and MacMahon. Spencer is identified as the only DWM lobbyist for Systems Control of California which sued the State of Maine over the car test mess. Systems Control paid DWM $81,062 in 1995. For a single source, one-year lobbyist fee, that is astronomical even in the lobbyist world. How much of that went to Spencer is not identified because the legislature will not pass a bill making associate lobbyists fess up to their compensation.

Anyway, Spencer once represented a firm that sued the whole state of Maine and now wants to be a senator that represents the whole state of Maine in Washington. Go figure.

There is D-candidate Jerold Leonard of Falmouth. Who?

The Republicans serve up Bobby Monks, or rather Bobby Monks serves up Bobby Monks with the Poupon of Maine GOP hierarchy and then picks up his own filet roast beef tab, which is running over half a million bucks. Monks says ad infinitum, that he "took on Wall Street and can take on Washington." C'mon Bobby, the last to take on Wall Street was in the year 1929. Besides, where have you been, and voting for since 1979?

Johnny One-Note Hathaway (guillotine the government) thinks he can win an election with three weeks of magic tube dust. One cannot discount the two-year Hathaway Plan. That is, exposure, exposure, exposure and then run for governor in 1998.

Right-wing Hathaway will chip away at Monks, which should help the most viable candidate to represent Maine in the US Senate -- moderate Susan Collins. The Brennan Bunch is praying for a Monks primary victory, believing Joe will win in June and can beat Bobby hands down in November. But never Susan.

A Collins win would give Maine and the nation the second two-woman senate representation and the only Republican. Yankees Collins and Snowe could probably handle California's most liberally weird Diane Feinstein and Barbara Boxer.

There are a couple wild and crazy cards in the running pack. Stephen Bost, late of the Ross Ranch, is an independent, or whatever. And it's doubtful the Greens will make the cut next year because their hypocrisy of putting grass has finally gone to dandelions.

With all this daily media hype about one senate seat, which probably won't make a whole lot of difference to Maine's Joe Sixpac and Molly Shopping Cart. The real election issue is the Maine Legislature. The dailies hang this important stuff on their short takes run-of-paper hooks. Television news doesn't cover anything without blood, fire or sex (they should take another look at politics) so it's up to the weeklies to cover and inform about those state candidates who will immediately affect our lives come January.

Some wag once said that politics is all ego. But they should remember that Napoleon is now a cake and Bismark is a herring. But then Napoleon also said that God was on the side of big battalions, which is where campaign finance now stages its troops.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The 17th annual Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show will be held on Saturday, May 25, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Dr. Moses Mason House.

This year's theme is "Logging in 1796" in honor of Bethel Bicentennial year. Judges this year will be Romeo and Jo Baker and Suzanne Taylor. All SAD44 elementary school students (Grades 1-6) are urged to enter with a finished painting in any medium depicting their conception of logging 200 years ago. All entries should be at the Dr. Moses Mason House by 3 p.m. on Friday, May 24.

Faye Sanborn Taylor (1908-1972) was a local artist, who 30 years ago this year was among those who gathered at the Bethel Library to found the Bethel Historical Society.

Anyone interested in serving on the Garden and Grounds Committee of the Bethel Historical Society should call the society office at 824-2908. Volunteers are always needed. Also, volunteers are needed to supply fresh flowers each week for the museum during July and August.

G'wood deputy clerk search narrows

GREENWOOD--Selectmen screened 16 applications last week for a deputy town clerk to assist Greenwood town manager Elizabeth Lavolette. The board selected three candidates to interview Monday evening. Selectmen are also looking for federal and state grant money to pay for road work. Proposed projects include repairs to gravel roads in town that tend to wash out in heavy storms or flooding. Town Manager Lavolette is working on the grant applications, according to selectman Marie Bartlett.

Newry cleanup days scheduled

NEWRY--The annual Newry Clean Up days have been scheduled for June 1 and 2. Dumpsters for tires, white goods, metal, construction debris and other non-recyclable household items will be parked at Sunday River Ski Resort's parking lot 5, on the right just past the Snow Cap Inn. For more information, contact the Town Office at 824-3123.

Disaster relief for Oxford County

WASHINGTON, D.C.--President Clinton authorized federal disaster funds Monday for Oxford, Androscoggin, Cumberland, Knox and York counties damaged last month by severe storms. Damage included mudslides and inland and coastal flooding. Federal funding will be available to supplement state funding for repairs and overtime paid to public work crews. Oxford County towns sustained more than $200,000 in the mid-April rains that combined with melting snow to flood several areas. Monday's declaration qualifies state and local governments for emergency assistance covering as much as 75 percent of cleanup and construction costs.

Trucker charged in Rumford accident

RUMFORD--The Quebec truck driver of a tanker truck carrying sulfuric acid that overturned in Rumford Point last week has been charged with driving to endanger, according to police. Steve Weston, 22, was headed eastbound on Route 2 when he rounded a sharp curve and flipped his rig onto its left side and slid to the steps of the Congregational Church. A witness reported seeing the truck coming into Rumford Point on two wheels, hitting the brakes and flipping over, police said. Weston cut his arm, but there were no other serious injuries in the accident. No sulfuric acid leaked, but Route 2 was closed to traffic for about 14 hours while about 50 workers oversaw the transfer of about 2,000 gallons of acid to another tanker.

Ferguson to seek re-election

HANOVER--State Sen. Norm Ferguson, Jr. has announced that he will seek re-election to the Maine State Senate for District 24 (Northern and Western Oxford County). Ferguson is chairman of the Legal and Veterans Affairs Committee, and serves on the Joint Standing Committee on Taxation. He previously was an Oxford County Commissioner. Ferguson is a 1952 graduate of Gould Academy. After serving in the U.S. Army, he graduated from Burdett College. He went to work as an accountant for Boise Cascade in 1957 and later was promoted to purchasing agent. Ferguson is married to the former Barbara Cole of Bethel and has four adult sons.

So will Cameron

RUMFORD--Representative Robert A. Cameron, R-Rumford, has announced that he is seeking re-election to the Maine House of Representatives for District 70. Cameron serves on the Legislature's Joint Standing Committee on Business and Economic Development. He was also recently appointed to the Joint Standing Committee on Utilities and Energy. Cameron is an employee of Boise Cascade and a part-time farmer in South Rumford. He holds a degree in Agriculture from the University of Maine at Orono. Cameron, born and raised in Rumford, is married to the former Louanne Eastman of West Peru. They have four children.

Moose auction sends kids to camp

AUGUSTA--More than 200 Maine youngsters will attend the Maine Conservation Camp in Bryant Pond or Machias this summer thanks to moose hunters. The state Fish and Wildlife Department auctioned off five moose hunting permits recently and netted $35,629, which will be used for scholarships to the Maine Conservation Camp for boys and girls ages 12 to 14. The Maine Moose Auction was approved two years ago by the Maine State Legislature. Forty bids were received this year from the U.S. and Canada. The five top bids totaled $35,629. The highest bid was $8,000. The lowest among the five winning bids was $5,200. Maine's remaining 1,495 moose hunting permits will be awarded in mid-June during the annual moose lottery drawing. The Maine Conservation Camp is located at two sites, one on Lake Christopher at Bryant Pond and one at Greenland Point Center on Long Lake near Machias. Campers are provided with the basics in being woods wise and safety conscious, as well as an awareness and appreciation of Maine's natural resources and outdoor traditions. Interested youngsters may obtain an application for a scholarship to attend the Conservation Camp by writing or calling the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

Ski 'n bike for Bump 'N Grind

NEWRY--Sunday River's newly expanded Mountain Bike Park opens for the season Saturday, May 25. The park features more than 60 miles of scenic trails and single tracks. As part of the May 25 and 26 Bump 'N Grind Weekend, for the second time in three years, guests can mountain bike and ski on the same day for the cost of one lift ticket ($19). Guests taking three mountain bike runs and three ski runs on the same day will receive a $5 coupon toward their next mountain bike ticket. The bike park is open the weekends of May 25-27, June 1-2, 8-9, and 15-16, then daily from June 22 to Sept. 2. Chairlifts operate 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. weekdays, and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekends.

Hikers spend chilly night on trail

MOUNT ABRAM TOWNSHIP--A group of six hikers from Auburn and Harspswell spent Sunday night snowbound in an Appalachian Trail shelter in Mount Abram Township, located south of Carabasset Valley. The six hikers, ages ranging from 67 to 18 encountered snow, ice and foul weather that slowed their progress, according to Maine Department of Fish and Wildlife spokesperson Paul Reynolds. The group camped at 4,000 feet without sleeping bags, Reynolds said, but had enough equipment to protect themselves from hypothermia on the 40-degree night. The group used the shelter on Spaulding Mountain. They began at Oberdeen Stream on Sunday morning, intending to be met at a tenting site in Caribou Valley west of Sugarloaf Mountain. None of the hikers had any injuries or required medical attention.

Partnership to protect deer

AUGUSTA--Great Northern Paper Company Inc., Maine's largest private landowner, and the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife have reached an agreement for the conservation of nearly 26,000 acres of deer wintering area. The acreage is part of a 511,000-acre region surrounding the West Branch of the Penobscot River. A long-term forest management plan will provide for the sustained yield of softwood trees necessary to provide both winter shelter for deer and raw products for GNP's paper and lumber mills.

From the Bethel Police log:

Alarm stops thieves on a dime

On May 19 at 9:40 police responded to an alarm at the Groan & McGurn building on the Northwest Bethel Road. A bag stuffed full of T-shirts and sweatshirts was found in the middle of the plant's floor, according to police. Several rolls of dimes, and dimes scattered on the plant's floor were also found. Police noted footprints around the building's back door and a neighbor reported seeing juveniles in the area. Nothing was determined missing from the plant, according to the police report. There are no suspects in the attempted burglary at this time, said police chief Dale Bellman, who added that the audio alarm probably scared the who-be thieves away.

Friday, May 18

At 5:30 p.m. a Sunday Brewing Company employee reported three men walking out on a $39.12 tab. Police checked out the area, but no contact with the subjects was made.

Saturday, May 19

At 4:15 p.m. a West Bethel resident reported seeing a girl abandon a bicycle at a Route 5 cemetery and enter a car. Police picked up the bike, which is being held at the Police station.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies. An answering machine takes calls when an officer is not in the office.

liard told the selectmen: "The unfortunate reality is that the best location for us to be in is the one we're in, but we didn't get a proposal."

Brooks said the present site had also been studied by experts with an eye toward rehabilitating it under a new owner. But they concluded, he said, "that it's just not viable."

Other sites

The three proposals Brooks said were not acceptable involved sites at the corner of Main and Spring streets, on lower Main Street next to the ambulance barn, and on Mason Street.

The site on the corner of Main and Spring streets (formerly the site of Kennebec Realty) was too small, offering less than half the desired square footage, Brooks said.

The lower Main Street site was too narrow and lacked the desired frontage, he said.

And both of these sites offered little room for future expansion, Brooks said.

The proposal for the Mason Street site (the Gorman property) was unsuitable in part because of the residential nature of the neighborhood and because of the high price.

Brooks said he could not disclose the financial components of the proposals, but the Mason Street site was "hundreds of thousands of dollars," more expensive than Merrill's proposal.

That difference could be lessened in negotiations, Brooks said, but "it's not likely to be lessened to the point that we can eat this."

The Mason Street proposal called for the primary access for the building to be through Philbrook Street, and would involve making some sort of arrangement with SAD44 for access over the former Ethel Bisbee School site.

The residential nature of Mason Street was also a factor, Brooks said. "I'd have to do a lot of soul searching before I'd recommend a site on Mason Street," he said. "Experience says you just don't put a unit that size into that kind of area."

The selectmen, however, thought the Mason Street site was the best of the four.

Rick Whitney expressed concern over the effect that moving the post office to Bethel Station would have on Main Street businesses, and Chairman Bob Chadbourne said most of the public comments he had heard favored the Mason Street site.

Brooks, however, said he felt the center of the village would grow, not simply change, if the post office moved.

"I could see the town growing to encompass the Merrill area," he said.

"We are a focal point whether we want to be or not. To that end we want to be where the action is."

The selectmen were not convinced. A motion by Ruth Grover, seconded by Whitney, endorsing the Mason Street site passed 3-1.

Dutch Dresser abstained, saying that without access to the financial data, he did not have enough information to make such a decision.

Brooks asked that the selectmen put their concerns in a letter.

A decision, he said, could come as early as Thursday, but a contract would not be signed until a 35-day bureaucratic review period was completed.

(Monday evening's meeting was taped by Ch. 14 and will be televised Friday at 7 p.m.)

Brown

statewide organization; he was twice elected its president, and in 1994 he was named Maine Town Clerk of the Year.

Brown had served as Bethel town clerk for nearly 20 years before being fired by Town Manager Madeleine Henley in January of this year.

That firing was later upheld by a 3-2 vote of the Board of Selectmen. In their formal finding, the selectmen said the shoplifting conviction was not the sole reason for Brown's firing.

They also cited failure to follow proper procedures in his office work, as well as other instances of misconduct, and an attitude which "constitutes an unwholesome influence on other employees."

Henley said Brown's troubles with the clerks' association played no role in her decision to fire him, or in the selectmen's decision to uphold that firing.

"I'm sure the selectmen knew nothing about it," she said.

And aside from the relatively minor matters cited when Brown was dismissed, there was no evidence of financial irregularities in his handling of town money, Henley said.

Following the firing, the Department of Motor Vehicles conducted "an exhaustive audit and found nothing," Henley said.

Brown declined to comment on the indictment, referring calls to his attorney, Michael O'Donnell, of Bethel. O'Donnell was out of the office Tuesday and could not be reached for comment.

HOW TO DIAL A TELEPHONE

Most people have had experience dialing telephones when in the city. For the benefit of those who would like to have their memory refreshed the following instructions may be of help.

First, listen for the dial tone, a loud hum.

Second, to make a local call, place your finger in the dial hole over the number desired and move to the stop, then let the dial return to normal position without help. Do this to all of the numbers in turn.

Third, if the line is busy you will hear a BUZZ BUZZ sound. Hang up and try later.

Fourth, if you want to reach a person on your own line, use the card which will be furnished to you listing their names and a special number to reach them. Do not use the directory for these calls.

Fifth, to reach a person whose number is in a different exchange, served by this company, (THREE, TREMONT & VANDYKE) the first two letters must be dialed.

Sixth, for long distance calls dial 2200, which is the last hole on the dial and will reach the Norway Maine toll operator.

Tips from the

Did you know there are two recent changes that affect boaters on Maine waters this year?

1. Children 10 years of age or younger must wear a life jacket at all times in any watercraft. Adults are encouraged to wear life jackets also.
2. Boat cushions are no longer legal flotation devices for adults and children. You cannot use them in place of a wearable life jacket.

Archeologist

About 15 years ago he met archeologist Dr. Michael Grimley, who came to the area to excavate what is known as the Vail Site on Aziscohos Lake. Grimley went over Poor's collection, identifying the artifacts. He took the first adz Poor found to the Maine State Museum on loan.

Poor eventually turned the loan into a donation, and has since added most of his collection as a gift to the state.

For that and his other contributions to archeology he was awarded an honorary degree at the University of Maine at Farmington on May 11.

But Poor doesn't plan to rest on his laurels. He'll be out looking again this summer and fall. Pickings are slimmer these days, as many of the artifacts have already been collected.

"All there is to look for now is small pieces," he said.

Whether small or large, amassing great numbers of artifacts has never been his goal. "Having it isn't important," Poor said. "It's the quest that keeps you going."

"I agree with you 100 percent," he said to the questioner. "I overlooked it. I didn't know it should be done."

Following an apology by Thompson voters approved (16-11) the budgeted overdrafts, but they then refused (20-9) to approve another $28,512 in overdrafts to unbudgeted accounts.

They also refused to ratify Thompson's borrowing of $16,000 from Bethel Savings Bank to purchase a backhoe for the town.

The purchase had been approved at a the annual Town Meeting in 1993 (with no money authorized), but the equipment was not purchased until late 1995.

Thompson argued the 1993 vote gave him the authority to borrow the money, but Selectman Richard LeComte countered that even if Thompson did have the authority (LeComte believed he didn't) the loan was still illegal, because a single selectman could not, on his own, sign for it.

"How does a town get a loan from Bethel Savings Bank on one signature?" he asked. "I'd like to meet that loan officer."

Thompson also argued that the money had been handled improperly, since there were no entries in the town's books to reflect the transaction.

The voters present sided with LeComte, refusing 19-10 to sign off on the loan.

Last week's votes leave in question the status of not only the backhoe, but also the town's overall finances.

Thompson said that according to the town's auditor, since the overdrafts had been spent without Town Meeting authorization, any voter could now sue the town over the matter.

From the

Bethel Bicentennial Committee

By JIM ROSE

The Education Committee will hold auditions for the pageant on June 3, likely location: CPS.

The initial response to the Age of Barns poster has been quite spirited, but there seems to be a little confusion on the availability of the 100 specially embossed prints which sell for $20. These in particular are available only at Playhouse Antiques (824-3170). The standard (non-embossed) posters, which sell for $10, may be purchased at not only Playhouse Antiques but also at the Town Office, the Maine Press and the Bethel Historical Society.

The Barn Dance Committee also wishes to convey that they are in search of an enthusiastic individual to act as their chair. If anyone is interested, or knows of anyone who might be interested, please contact Sally Taylor at 824-3170. The eventual candidate will find a committee of seven, already in progress, at his or her immediate disposal. Their goal is to focus on our agricultural roots by way of an historic community and social event -- a great barn dance. The Barn Dance is currently scheduled for July 27, so if anyone knows someone who might like to lead this event, please contact Sally Taylor as soon as possible.

Saturday, June 8 is the date set for the Bicentennial Canoe Flotilla, which will join the Androscoggin Source-to-Sea Canoe Trek from Bethel Village to Rumford Corner, including the moderate rapids at Bear River Rip. Participants are encouraged to dress in old-time costumes. The flotilla will launch at 10 a.m. from the new Riverside Campground next to the Androscoggin bridge on Route 2. Steve Wright will provide a shuttle bus to bring drivers back to their vehicles at the campground. Rental canoes will be available at half the usual daily rate. Call Jeff Parsons at 836-3607 for reservations.

Also approaching quickly is the June 10 Incorporation Day Ceremony, featuring special postage cancellation at the gazebo. Anyone wishing to have any mailings affixed with the specially designed stamp of the actual anniversary of incorporation will be able to do so during this observance. Also to be offered for sale will be pre-stamped memorabilia with the aforementioned cancellation adorning them.

A bicycle parade will be held on Saturday, June 15 and will actually lead the Civil War Parade. Citizens are encouraged to dig out the oldest bicycles they can find and brightly decorate them for the parade. More information will be coming soon.

PRINCESS MOLLYCOKETT

The Bethel Lions Club is looking for a Princess Mollycokett 1996 to preside over Mollycokett Day activities on July 20. A runner-up will also be chosen. SAD44 residents between the ages of 15 and 18 are eligible. Please call Malcolm Gould at 824-2747 or write for an application to: 403 Chandler Hill Road, Bethel, ME 04217-4933. The winner will be awarded a savings bond. Hurry, the deadline is May 31.

R.E.A.C.H. ATTIC SALE

R.E.A.C.H. (Rape Education and Crisis Hotline) will hold its first ever "Friends of R.E.A.C.H. Attic Sale" on Saturday, May 25, at 9 a.m. The sale will be held on the lawn of Mollycokett Marketplace Antiques, located on Route 26 at the junction of Route 219 in West Paris. The fundraiser will benefit R.E.A.C.H., a non-profit organization located in Norway, which serves Oxford County.

R.E.A.C.H. is depending on donations for this fundraiser. Anyone interested in donating items from their home, attic, barn, etc. can call the office at 743-9777. The organization is particularly interested in donations of household items: appliances, furniture, dishes, toys, etc. All donations will be sold at the Attic Sale. Donations will be accepted from now until the day of the sale.

On Monday, May 13 the WEHS Alumni met at Alice Hoyt's home to write invitations and make posters. We have had a much better turnout to meetings this year. We still don't know if we will have a program at the banquet this year. The Woodstock High School Alumni Banquet will be held at the Locke Mills Legion Hall on Saturday, June 8, at 6 p.m. The banquet is put on by the Legion Auxiliary. Special guests are the classes of 1936, 1946 and 1996 seniors from Telstar, Woodstock and Greenwood.

Judith Grover Tent 17 D.U.V. met on Tuesday, May 14, at the Grange Hall. Thirteen were present. Phyllis Jordan filled in as chaplain; Michelle Cary as senior vice president; Bessie House as guide. Jennifer Stevens was installed as color bearer. 2. Memorial Day plans and the sale on Saturday were finalized. We have received the new flags. General Orders 2 was read, also a thank you from Arlene and Howard MacKillop. Delegates Michelle Cary and Helvi Cary and alternates Elsie Bonney and Phyllis Jordan were chosen for Convention, which will be held in Waterville on June 27 and 28.

The Memorial Day program will be at the Honor Roll on Monday, May 27. It will start at 1 p.m. with parade following. The speaker will be Rev. Roland Lord, music will be by the Mahoosuc Music Makers. Those taking part in the program and parade are American Legion and Auxiliary, V.F.W., National Guard, Scouts, school children and Daughters of Union Veterans.

Hope you all had a nice Mother's Day. I did. At the Baptist Church, the ladies were in charge of the service. Nadja Balio was the speaker. Beatrice Farnum, Ken and Alice Hoyt, JoAnn Crockett, Jim Hoyt, Lauretta and Kelly Sanborn, Althea, Robert, Jenny and Danny Stevens, Andrew and Rhonda Chase, Crystal Chase, Arie Beane and Helen Chase joined Leatrice and John Chase for an indoor cookout at their home.

Belinda Poor and Sharon Farrington recently traveled to Homosassa Springs, Fla. for a brief vacation, and to drive back with their father, Alden Briggs, who has a summer residence in East Andover.

Congratulations to Jon Akers who recently graduated from the mechanical engineering technology program at the University of Maine at Orono. He has accepted a position with International Paper and will relocate to the Ticonderoga, New York area in early June. Among those attending the graduation were his parents, Leon and Trudy Akers, and his brother Tim.

Megan Meisner, a junior at Telstar High School, enjoyed her April vacation studying at the Heartwood School of Art in Kennebunkport. Megan was one of 20 New England students accepted into the program. She enjoys drawing and oil painting.

10. Peter Mason drove Daisy to Orono to see the graduation.

Jim and Lori Kimball of West Paris and their daughter visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kimball on May 10 and 11.

Velora Tuominen of North Norway and her two daughters visited Paul and Charlotte Kimball on May 11. Paul Kimball took Charlotte to supper at the Trap Corner Store on May 11. Jim and Lori Kimball joined them for supper. The meal was very nice.

came over to help plant them on May 15.

Polly Smith had a nice Mother's Day at the Chop Stick Restaurant in Lewiston. There were 19 people, and Kate Thurston made a special cake for the occasion.

Alder River Grange will hold a regular meeting on May 24 at the Grange Hall at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a Memorial Day breakfast, May 27, to benefit the Bethel Bicentennial Committee. The breakfast will be served from 7 to 10 a.m. at the Alder River Grange.

Streams prattle noisily over stony beds. The wonderful old earth, brings us again toward the sun and clothes herself in beauty.

There are many things to watch for, at morning's fresh hour. There are mists that rise on streams and ponds. Frogs tune up with sweet, piping voices and now and then a fat, furry bumble bee wearing an insulated coat of black and yellow stripes arrives.

Sounds seem sweeter and louder in the early morning. For those who love early mornings and solitude, there is a wonderful place to be discovered and it's called dawn, if for only a brief time.

On Mother's Day Rena Curtis had many of her family at her home; her sons Walter, Carl, Albert, Ray, and her wives and families, and her daughters, Colista and Lillian and their husbands.

At the Holt farm, Ann and Sally Holt made dinner for Fay and the family. There were nine of us and we had a wonderful day.

Dot Betts went to North Conway to be with her children for Mother's Day. I'm sure others gathered for the day.

My niece Laurene French called to see me and to say good-bye, for she was leaving for her home in Arizona. She had been here for several weeks with her husband and planned to spend the summer, but they received word of the tragic death of their older son.

Anita Hakala came to visit me on Monday. She entered Maine Medical on Friday, May 17 for her second surgery. We all wish her the best.

Bethel

by
Phyllis Dock

I recently spent the week with Roger and Susanne and their youngest son, Timothy, who arrived home from Clemson College for summer break.

On Friday we all returned to Bethel, and on Saturday attended the graduation of Roger and Susanne's oldest son, James, from UM Farmington College.

Stuart, Jan and Studly Cross have returned home after wintering in Florida.

(Phyllis Dock has kindly agreed to serve as The Citizen's Bethel correspondent. To share your news, please call her at 824-2778.)

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers, my fingers are cold from cleaning dandelion greens, but maybe they'll hit the right keys of the typewriter. If there are any errors, we'll blame it on that.

Our thoughts and prayers go out to the family of Lori L. Taylor, who died on May 13 in Lewiston. Lori was the daughter and step-daughter of Bob and Geneva Tripp of East Stoneham. It was sad and sudden and our sympathy is with the family.

Jesse Adams is having extensive work done on his house here in Stoneham. Larry Fox is doing a lot of work for him.

The front of the local store here in town is getting back to normal, after the damage which was done by a vehicle that ran into it a while ago. It must be good to have the front window back in.

The Oxford County Republicans met Tuesday night at the Norway Congregational Church for a chicken pie supper, served by the Hannibal Hamlin Republican Women's Club. Social hour was at 5:30 with supper at 6:30 p.m.

Kevin Keogh, Maine Republican Party Chairman was the featured speaker of the evening. Regular business was then conducted with short reports given and accepted by the secretary and treasurer. Several candidates for an office gave talks about what they have done and what they will do if elected.

There were 52 people at this supper and meeting, and all agreed it was a good one. Candidates who were not there had a representative speak for them. A card was circulated to be signed for Jarod's graduation on May 31. I believe there won't be a meeting in June, as the regular date comes on the Primary voting date.

On May 10, Gladys Kilgore fell at her home and fractured her leg. She is at the Northern Cumberland Memorial Hospital in Bridgton, in room 12, if you would like to send her a card, I'm sure she would like that.

The Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War Tent 19 will meet on Wednesday, May 22. They will have memorial services for their deceased members, and encourage all Daughters to be there.

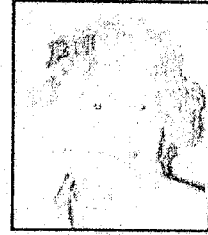

The East Stoneham Church Thrift and Bake Sale will be open on Saturday, May 25. They have a lot of new and used items that have come in. The sale will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. I'm sure you'll find something good to take home. These are low priced for your convenience. We also have a few "Stoneham Remembered" books for sale and little recipe booklets with favorite recipes of former Stoneham residents.

On May 26, there will be a Memorial Day breakfast at the Stoneham Rescue Barn from 7 to 10:30 a.m. The menu will consist of pancakes, French toast, eggs, bacon, sausage, toast, muffins, orange juice and coffee. Cost is $5 and $3.

Church services will be held at Stoneham Church at 10 a.m. on May 26, with the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War Tent 19 attending. They will hold Memorial Day Services in front of the plaque on the front yard at 11 a.m., with a parade following, which goes to the Hillside Cemetery, stopping at the Mill Pond to honor Civil War Veterans who were lost at sea. Everyone is welcome to attend these programs.

North Newry

by
Gil Seeley

Newry Community Church services were held on Sunday with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The message of the day was: "A praise to Mothers" from Ruth 1:1-18, with a special message by Gil Seeley, "An Ode to Mothers in the World."

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Eleanor Davis, Doris Parent, Louise Tetley, Irene Hadfield and Olive Anderson of the Newry Bowling Gang were at the Oxford Lanes one day last week.

Julia Goodwin was a guest. On the overall scores, Karlene was high on the singles with one string of 105 and high on the triples, beating Betsy by one pin. Of the righties, Irene was high on the singles, beating Doris by one pin, and high on the triples. Karlene had one strike and two spares, Betsy had three spares and Gil had one.

My niece, Theresa Toti of R.I., spent a few days here in North Newry and took me out to celebrate at the Grange Hall. She received a carnation for being from the furthest distance.

Julia Goodwin, Karlene's mother from Unity, spent some time with the family and also attended the supper and received a few carnations.

The Mother/Daughter potluck supper at the Grange Hall was a great success. About 30 mothers and daughters showed up. Carnations were given for the oldest mother, grandmother, and the one traveling the furthest -- Julia Goodwin; the youngest mother -- Leslie Bonney; the youngest grandmothers -- Nancy Chadbourn and Melinda Cummings; the youngest daughter -- Melissa Straus; the youngest great-grandmother -- Karlene Bachelder; the most children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and the most daughters -- Freda Robertson; the youngest baby in the family -- Irene Russell. Later, Polly Mahoney of the Mahoosuc Mountain Adventures spoke and showed slides of her trip to Australia. It was a great night.

Hanover

A combination Mother's Day and birthday party was a pleasant surprise for Myrtle Sylvester on Sunday, May 12. It was given by her children at the Andover home of her granddaughter, Penny Smith. The Mother's Day and birthday cake was made by her daughter Judy of Northfield, N.H.

She received a money tree and many cards and presents.

A special surprise was the arrival of her oldest son, John Harding, and his wife Margaret, from White Plains, Md.

Many friends and relatives attended and had a good time. Unable to attend were her brother Maynard Shelly and his wife Geneva of Hebron, Conn.

For the last three mornings temperatures have been in the low twenties with white frosts, is this mid-May?

Bill Bancroft returned to the hospital for X-rays and out patient therapy.

Mrs. Lisa Allen and baby Danielle of Norway visited her uncle Bill Bancroft on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Halle of Lisbon Falls spent Friday with her mother and Bill. Other recent visitors have been Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Smith of Lynchville and son Russell of Norway and Mrs. Grace Morrill of Bethel.

Last Saturday with Herbie and Dottie Adams of Hanover, I attended the University of Southern Maine graduation at the Cumberland Civic Center in Portland. Erin Adams was a member of the class numbering over a thousand. Later, Erin entertained for a potluck luncheon at her apartment. Her friend Daryl, his parents Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Gurney of Mexico, his brother and fiancée of South Portland, Dottie, Herbie and myself all had a good time. Daryl says, "Hi! Chris Olson."

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Krolak and baby daughter Abby of Brunswick were visitors of the Bancroft's on Sunday.

Kaitly Gatchell of Portland spent the weekend here.

Sunday visitors here were Craig and Ethel Turner and Amber Bean of Oisfield and Mrs. Dottie Adams of Hanover.

What's so remarkable about love at first sight? It's when people have been looking at each other for years that it becomes remarkable.

Upton

by
Amy Geiling

Hello everyone! The thermometer reads a lovely 70 degrees in the shade, as I write this on Saturday, May 18. A lot of traffic with boats, canoes, kayaks and bikes. Yeah! The fresh smell of spring greets our noses. The welcoming sound of peepers is peaceful.

Progress is being made at the new campground in Cambridge, N.H. Tent sites have been made and R.V. hook-ups are in. Thank you to those helping with the preliminary work.

Haven't heard any stories from the past yet. I know they're out there. Share some good laughs.

The loons have returned to the lake. Their calls could be heard from as far away as Route 26.

Wishing everyone a great Memorial Weekend! Trivia time: In 1917, it cost the town of Upton $100 for the belfry on the school house.

Community Education Day at CPS

For the past several years the Crescent Park School has participated in a very special day. Originally the name of that day was Alternative Learning Day, it later became known as Healthy Choices Day.

Throughout the past several years the focus of this day has been to provide students with alternatives to drug and alcohol use. The design of the day has been to allow students to participate in several workshops which would allow them to gain insights into a new hobby or special activity.

This year CPS hopes to expand on this successful day by inviting community members to join us in offering workshops and special activities at this time. Any interested community members, parents, senior citizens or business people are invited to join us in participating on June 7. Participants would be asked to offer up to four 45-minute workshops on a specific activity of interest.

Past activities have included cooking opportunities, outdoor games, step aerobics, dancing, bubbology, crafts, bike riding, Japanese and puppet making, to name a few. Our hope is to offer a wide array of workshops for students to participate in.

Native American/Maine Heritage Day

by AMBER BACHELDER, TMS
On Tuesday, March 26, the seventh-grade team put on a Native American/Maine Heritage Day for us seventh-graders. I thought it was fun. We could choose from a number of activities.

Here are just a few: corn husk dolls, basketweaving, dream catcher making, and fingerweaving. We got to eat some food the Indians might have eaten. We ate venison stew and pan bread. (I didn't like the stew that much.) We got to watch a movie about the Penobscot Indians.

Thank you teachers and volunteers for making the day possible.

CPS Fifth Grade Goes to Boston

On Thursday and Friday, May 23 and 24, fifth grade students from the Crescent Park School will embark on a two-day excursion to Boston.

This educational field trip will allow students the opportunity to visit firsthand one of the most important cities in the history of America.

As a follow-up to the fifth grade United States history theme, students will have an opportunity to visit Faneuil Hall, the Old Granary Burying Ground, Boston Public Gardens and a variety of other local historical sites.

In addition, visits will also be made to the Boston Museum of Science and the New England Aquarium.

Special features of the trip will include a Thursday night game at Fenway Park where the Red Sox will take on the Seattle Mariners.

Students will also participate in a tour of Boston Harbor aboard the Doc Edgarton.

Finally, the visit will culminate with a ride on the Salem Sloop at the Boston Public Gardens.

All funds for this field trip have been raised by the fifth-grade class with the help and generosity of parents and community members.

CPS Creative Hat Day Winners!

CPS Student Council Sponsors Annual Hat Day

Students at the Crescent Park School recently participated in their annual Hat Day, a tradition started by the CPS Student Council several years ago.

Nearly 100 percent of the students participated by designing and wearing a special hat for the day. This was a real treat since hat wearing is not allowed in the school at any other time. Student Council members and staff helped select the winners in several categories.

This is one of many special events sponsored by the CPS Student Council throughout the course of the year in an effort to keep school spirit and student enthusiasm high.

Ahhh... The chocolate monster has arrived!

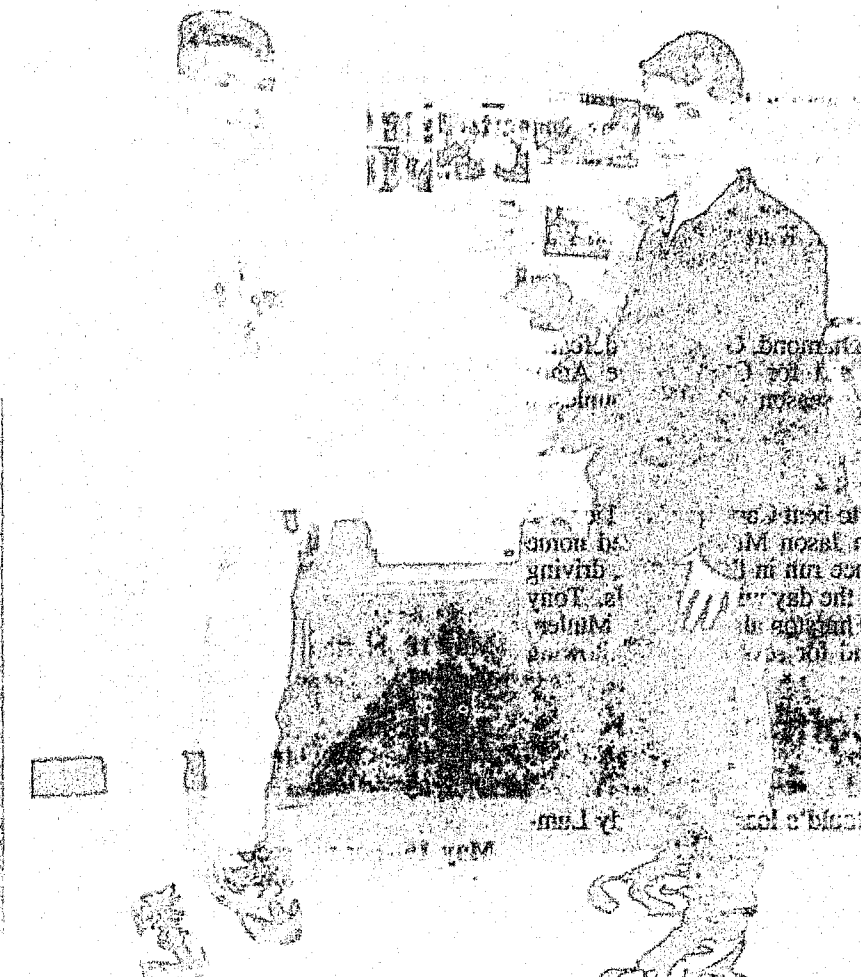

CPS Featured on PBS Quest Series

Throughout the month of May, PBS, Channel 10 is running a special program, filmed at the Crescent Park School, highlighting the sophistication that the students have in the area of technology.

Students in Robin Smith's kindergarten class and Linda Kuzyk's fifth-grade classroom are showing their many talents with regard to e-mail, Internet searches and other components of computer technology.

This latest visit from Public Broadcasting Service of Maine follows on the heels of an earlier radio presentation compiled by Maine Public Broadcasting.

In addition, on May 2 Channel 13 featured a two-minute clip during their news broadcasts highlighting students from the Crescent Park School displaying the various technologies that they work with on a daily basis.

NATIONAL MERIT ACHIEVERS—Telstar High School juniors Dan (left) and Fred Emerson were among the 50,000 highest scorers in the 1997 National Merit Scholarship Program. Of that number, 15,000 will be named semifinalists, and will have the chance to compete for about 6,900 Merit Scholarship awards to be offered in 1997. The Emersons, who successfully completed all the college preparatory math classes at Telstar as sophomores (through advanced placement Calculus), are also taking a college math course through Brigham Young University in Utah. They fax their completed work to the university. The brothers expect to take another college math course as seniors.

FIFTH-GRADE HEATHER GLOVER dressed as Amelia Earhart.

LINDA STOWELL, SAD44 MUSIC TEACHER, directs Woodstock Elementary School's fourth- and fifth-graders as they played their recorder during a Grandparent's Day assembly. The students entertained the flow of grandparents who were in attendance.

SECOND-GRADE KAYLA MILLS presents her projects on the sperm whale.

CPS Participates in TV Turnoff Week

The Crescent Park School recently participated in TV Turnoff Week, a national effort to encourage children to turn off television at other times during the school day.

Each day the children successfully fulfilled their goal of no television in the gymnasium where Physical Education classes were held. The children were encouraged to use this time for other activities such as reading, drawing, or playing games.

Over 200 children participated in the TV Turnoff Week. As a result, the Crescent Park School will be honored with a plaque from the American Library of Congress.

What my Anniversary Day Means to me, seen through the eyes of my rose.

I picked out a pretty rose one day and I married her. Throughout our years of marriage my rose has been pulled apart and petals have fallen off.

Life wears and tears down. Housework, time pressures, stresses and raising two active boys are just some of the causes. Some times after a long hard day my rose seems less bright and full, but it is always there in parts. I think I feel only the thorns, sometimes.

Because of the routines and daily grind I don't always consider and appreciate my rose everyday. But on this our day I want to be sure and focus on my rose.

Today, May 22, 1996 I pick up the stem, the thorns and all the fallen petals. I hold them all carefully in my hands and press them to my heart. As I open my hand I can not believe my eyes. My rose is all together and 20 times as beautiful as when I found her those many years ago. The aroma is 20 times stronger and more sweet.

Oh what joy you bring to me and our boys. My rose is much more wonderful today than the day I found you.

Happy Twentieth Anniversary Marilyn. Thank you for all you have done and will do. I look forward to many more years together. With all my love, I love, Keith Hanel

P.S. To those reading this: don't take your marriage for granted. Work hard at it and take your special days, to put your whole rose together before it withers away. Your rewards will be great!
